Expect No Big Change

PRAGUE (AP) — Awaiting talks with Kremlin leaders, Czechoslovak Communist party sources said today they expect the Soviet-led pressure campaign against this country's reformist course to go on for months.

The Czechoslovak sources cautioned against expecting any dramatic development from the impending conference of the Soviet Communist party's Politburo with the Czechoslovak party presidium, to be held by Prague's insistence somewhere on its own territory.

Official quarters discounted reports from Moscow that the Soviet party chief, Leonid I. Brezhnev, and the rest of the Politburo were already on the way.

Departure of the Soviet delegation for the previously announced meeting was reported by the Yugoslav news agency, Tanjug, from Moscow. There was no official confirmation, but rumors of the departure circulated in Moscow.

The trip to Czechoslovakia is the first by the Politburo—steering committee of the Soviet party—outside Russia as a group. The meeting is expected to be held today or Thursday in Slovakia, adjacent to the Soviet Union, but the time and location have not been announced.

Despite new Soviet army maneuvers along its eastern frontier, Czechoslovak officials expressed confidence the Russians would never resort to armed intervention if the country stands united behind Alexander Dubcek's reformist regime.

"The Soviets would lose more than they would gain by a military intervention," one Communist party official said.

"Moscow will have to get used to what is going on here. There can be no turning back the clock. We are not going to compromise and are determined to continue on the present course."

Party officials said they viewed the Soviet note this week demanding a strengthening of Czechoslovakia's border with West Germany, presumably by Red army troops, as "just another step in the war of nerves."

Ten Persons Killed In Wild Gun Battle

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Snipers armed with rifles, shotguns, carbines and bayonets opened fire Tuesday on a police tow truck at the start of a night of terror that left 10 persons dead, including three white policemen and seven Negroes.

Mayor Carl B. Stokes said today that the violence, which brought 4,000 National Guard troops to restore order on Cleveland's East Side, was the work of a "small and determined group."

He said FBI and military intelligence had warned him two days ago that there would be trouble here and in other cities, starting at 8 a.m. today.

But the outbreak came Tuesday night, when snipers opened fire on policemen removing an abandoned auto, touching off a gunfight as well as looting and burning. The tow truck operator was wounded.

Stokes said authorities had arrested Ahmed (Fred) Evans, a Negro, whom police quoted as saying that there were 17 men in his group and that he surrendered after his rifle failed to fire while he was aiming at a policeman.

Stokes said his office had been trying to help Evans settle an eviction order that had been served on him.

Before Stokes spoke at a news conference, the commander of the National Guard force said that he saw evidence that a Black Nationalist conspiracy was behind the shootings.

Stokes said that when police came to the aid of the men on the tow truck, they came under fire from a nearby apartment building.

Police said two of the dead were snipers.

Whether the other dead were bystanders, participants or were in their homes and hit by ricocheting bullets could not be immediately determined.

Stokes, a Negro whose election as mayor of Cleveland last year received wide attention, said most of the dead and wounded fell within half an hour. He told newsmen he had been able to verify no sniping incidents other than at the tow truck.

Among those arrested was Fred Ahmed Evans, who has claimed a position of black nationalist leadership. Police quoted Evans as saying there were 17 men in his group and that he surrendered after his rifle failed to fire while he was aiming at a policeman.

Evans attracted widespread attention more than a year ago by predicting that an eclipse May 9, 1967, would be accompanied by a wave of racial violence in American cities on that date. The violence predicted by Evans, who was then operating an astrology shop, did not occur.

The outbreak also produced:

—19 injured, 11 of them policemen, one of whom remained in critical condition with a gun wound.

—50 arrests, about half on looting charges. Others were held for breach of peace, conspiracy, carrying concealed deadly weapons.

—About 200 homeless, from blazes started by fire bombs.

—An unofficial damage estimate of over $100,000, mostly for buildings and their contents, and for several burned-out autos.

—A halt in the sale of alcoholic beverages in Cleveland and surrounding suburbs.

—Mobilization of all of Ohio's 15,250 National Guardsmen with 4,000 dispatched immediately to the state's biggest city to help keep order.

The three-hour firefight with police began when the police tow truck rode up to Euclid

Must Recognize Saigon Role In Bid for Peace

PARIS (AP) — Ambassador W. Averell Harriman bluntly told North Vietnamese negotiators today that to progress toward peace "you must be prepared to recognize the role" of South Vietnam's government in working out a settlement of the Vietnam war.

Harriman's assertion in the 14th session of the Paris peace talks followed directly on President Johnson's Honolulu meeting with President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam at the end of last week. North Vietnam regularly denounces the Saigon government as an American "puppet."

Harriman told newsmen he had not seen definitive evidence that the lull in the war around Saigon, which began in mid-June, was finally coming to an end.

But he added: "What is disturbing is that the terrorist actions on theaters around Saigon have started again. People have been killed. I intend to call attention to that." The Viet Cong bombed four theaters in Saigon and nearby towns Sunday, killing 12 Vietnamese and wounding 91.

Going into the 14th session of the talks, Harriman said he would present to the North Viet-name negotiators the appeal issued in Honolulu by President Johnson and President Nguyen Van Thieu "for a peaceful settlement and an end of the violence."

"I intend," he continued, "to point to the violence that is continuing on the part of the Viet Cong, and I hope this will make some impression."

Harriman and his aides are also trying to find out whether North Vietnam is weakening its support for the National Liberation Front and offering Washington a new lure among its terms for a final political settlement in South Vietnam.

Jaycees' Home Rule Drive Set

Sedalia Jaycees have set July 31 as their kickoff date to obtain petitions calling for a vote of the people on charter government for Sedalia.

At a meeting Tuesday night at the home of David Curry, immediate past president of the Jaycees and chairman of the petition campaign, it was pointed out that the petition must contain the names of 10 per cent of the voters who cast ballots in the last general city election. That figure is 5,535, thus 554 names would be required.

Once the petition is obtained, it would be presented to the city council, which would then place the issue on the ballot.

The ballot would include the question of whether a commission should be authorized to draw up a proposed charter, and at the same time would list candidates to be elected to the 13-member commission.

To get on the ballot as a candidate for the commission, nominees must obtain a petition signed by 2 per cent of those persons who voted in the last general city election, or 110 names. It was stressed at the meeting that the Jaycees would also concentrate on getting

That 'Break' Took Hurler Out of Game

Stuart Simons, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Simons, 1602 South Marshall, went to rather painful extremes Tuesday night to show that he could pitch a hard, fast game.

Stuart, who started pitching for the Moose "A" team against Coca-Cola at the Little League major's diamond, had warmed up for about 30 minutes before the game. He only pitched during the top of the first inning, however, because of a spiral fracture which he received to his right arm between the elbow and the shoulder.

According to his father, Stuart had been started in the game by his manager because of his fast, sinker ball. Apparently, he had pitched so hard that the strain caused his arm to fracture.

Dr. R. A. Enoch set the arm after X-rays were taken at Bothwell Hospital.

Block Bid For Action On Fortas

Washington (AP) — An attempt to get immediate action by the Senate Judiciary Committee on President Johnson's nomination of Abe Fortas to be chief justice was blocked today.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., told newsmen that he moved at a closed meeting of the committee to report the nomination to the Senate favorably.

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., invoked a committee rule under which a single member can have a matter put over for a week.

The result was to delay at least until next Wednesday any chance for a vote on the nomination of Fortas to succeed Chief Justice Earl Warren and there is no assurance the committee will meet then.

Power Line Issue Under Advisement

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The Missouri Public Service Commission has again taken under advisement the question whether a power line should be permitted across the Current River in an area to be operated as the Ozark National Scenic Riverways.

The Missouri Public Service Commission completed a hearing Tuesday on the application of Sho-Me Power Corp. of Marshfield, Mo.

Once before Sho-Me got permission to cross the river with its transmission line. That time, however, the location was downstream a bit from Round Spring State Park in Shannon County.

The Sedalia Park Board has hired Jack D. Coutts as superintendent of parks to replace Harvey Kueck, who has resigned.

Coutts is well known in this area, having been chief deputy sheriff in Pettis County for several years. Prior to serving as deputy sheriff, he was a member of the Sedalia Police Department for several years.

Seeks Amendment

Sen. Sam J. Ervin, Jr., (D-N.C.), a leading critic of President Johnson's recent Supreme Court nominations, proposed a constitutional amendment limiting the authority of the President to make such appointments. Algerians Keep Hijacked Plane

PARIS (AP) — The Algerian government still held a hijacked Israeli jetliner and 21 or 22 Israeli citizens today after releasing 23 non-Israeli passengers.

The El Al Boeing 707 was diverted to Algiers on a flight from Rome to Israel early Tuesday by three members of the Front for the Liberation of Palestine, an Arab sabotage organization. The front asked the Algerian government to hold the Israelis aboard the plane as hostages for Arab commandos held prisoner in Israel, but there was no public response from Algiers and no demand for a swap.

Twenty of the released passengers were flown to Paris. They included two Americans, Rina Uziel, 23, of Brooklyn, N.Y., and Gabriel Gaiz, 17, a student from Long Beach, Calif., who finally arrived in Tel Aviv today with four other passengers.

Three Jewish passengers who were not Israeli citizens were flown to Marseille.

Reports of the number of Israelis held in Algiers differed. El Al, the Israeli national airline, said 10 crew members and 12 passengers were detained. The Algerians said they were holding 11 passengers along with the 10 crew members.

The three hijackers also apparently were in Algiers. The Israeli general asked U.N. Secretary General U Thant and the Italian government to intercede with the Algerians for release of the $6 million jetliner and the Israeli citizens. Italy sent an emissary to Algiers.

Algeria is still technically at war with Israel following the Arab-Israeli war in June 1967, and Israel has never had diplomatic relations with any of the Arab governments.

Although the several Arab guerrilla organizations have sent commando squads into Israel repeatedly on terrorist and sabotage missions, this was the first Israeli plane ever hijacked.

One of the passengers who was released, Leon Papu, a Colombian, said the plane's copilot staggered into the passenger compartment 20 minutes after the takeoff from Rome.

"He was bleeding profusely from a head wound and his shirt was covered in blood," said Papu. "We heard he had been hit over the head by a revolver. He told us the plane had been hijacked."

Chino Raccach, a 29-year-old Libyan, said one of the hijackers drew his finger through the blood of the injured man.

"He licked it," Raccach reported, "and said in Hebrew: 'Jewish blood is very sweet.' He added 'We shall throw all the Jews into the sea,' and then quickly said 'we want peace'."

Two "baldish men" covered the passengers with revolvers and hand grenades, the passengers said, and another was with the pilot.

The men told the passengers to keep quiet, hold their hands above their heads and they would not be harmed.

A Danish passenger said one of the hijackers took over the controls and brought the jetliner down in Algiers to a good landing.

Young Gaiz said the passengers were frightened but members of the plane crew tried to comfort the non-Israelis by telling them the hijackers were concerned only with Israeli citizens.

Big US Supply Center Target for VC Attack

SAIGON (AP) — An enemy rocket barrage struck a big U.S. supply center near Da Nang tonight while allied forces battled Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops across the country.

Associated Press correspondent Peter Arnett reported from Da Nang that 10 of the large 122mm rockets hit "Red Beach," a logistics base seven miles north of Da Nang.

First reports indicated casualties were light. There was no immediate damage assessment.

Allied troops uncovered sizable weapons caches near Saigon.

In the northern provinces, another vulnerable sector, the Viet Cong kept up the pressure on outposts and provincial capitals with a second day of mortar attacks and light ground probes.

One Viet Cong company broke into a village 15 miles southeast of Da Nang and burned it to the ground, leaving all 1,400 inhabitants homeless, military spokesmen said. Casualties among the villagers and their militia defenders were not immediately known.

In the fighting 18 miles southwest of Saigon, enemy troops using a blindfolded South Vietnamese prisoner as a decoy tried to slip through American lines after losing 34 dead in an all-night fight. Ten Americans of the 9th Infantry Division were reported killed and nine wounded.

American bombers had pounded the company of about 115 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong infiltrators, and some 1,500 rounds of American artillery were poured into an area about 800 yards in diameter during the night.

The enemy troops shoved a South Vietnamese prisoner in front of them in the darkness before dawn, trying to lure the Americans into firing on him while they slipped away in small groups. The plan backfired.

Funds to Assist Big Airports

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has approved an additional $153 million for the Federal Aviation Administration in a move to relieve the congestion that has disrupted air traffic at some of the nation's busiest airports.

"This is not a matter of air safety, it's a matter of air survival," Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., said before the Senate approved appropriations of $983.4 million for the FAA.

The action came while reports of delays in takeoffs and landings at major airports throughout the country continued to come in.

The traffic jams, which have mushroomed in recent weeks, are threatening to cause the cancellation of some flights, a cutback in FAA services and the possible closing of some facilities.

The controllers maintain that they are overworked, short-staffed and under-equipped to handle the increasing air traffic.

The bill was $153 million higher than a measure passed previously by the House and its sponsors said the extra money would provide for the hiring of 3,627 air-traffic controllers. The House bill allowed for only 1,631 controllers.

The Senate approved the additional money, part of an over-all $1.78 billion appropriations bill for the Transportation Department, 82 to 2. Only Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., and Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., dissented.

An informed Senate source said he expects the House will agree to much, if not all, the increases in the Senate bill.

Quick action in the House will be necessary if the measure is to go into effect before fall since Congress takes a break for much of August due to the national political conventions.

Will Stick to Policy

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — President Johnson has declared he will not waver from a Vietnam policy he called just and reasonable, despite "the pressures and strains that come normally in any political year."

The nation's governors who heard that pledge had no plans to attempt to match it with one of their own. The 60th National Governors Conference held its final session today, and the agenda did not touch on Vietnam.

One Democrat who praised the Johnson stand said any attempt to put the conference on record in support of U.S. policy on the war and negotiations would stir dissension which could do more harm than good.

Johnson spent an hour Tuesday night at the conference which has been marked by the political maneuvering by and for candidates to succeed him when he retires from the White House next Jan. 20.

Before a black-tie crowd of more than 2,000 persons at the governors' ball, Johnson declared:

"Our nation wants peace, our government wants peace, our men in Vietnam want peace, and your President wants peace. Yet some among us seem to feel that I or we alone can bring peace to Vietnam. They seem to ignore the presence and irreconcilability of the enemy."

Johnson said he had promised battleground restraint in announcing he would not run again for the White House, and has kept that promise.

"We are willing to go as far as honor and safety permit us to go," he said. "But we are not going to impose a coalition government—or any kind of government—on the people of South Vietnam."

"Nor are we going to let the totalitarians impose a Communist government of their direction either," the President said. That drew one of only two rounds of applause which came during his address.

"The days we're going through and the days ahead are going to be difficult ones," Johnson said. "But we are determined to press the search for peace even as we resist aggression on the battlefield. We are going to continue to resist the efforts to split our country wide open and divide our citizens."

Outside the Cincinnati convention center, scores of pickets marched the sidewalk, many waving placards critical of Johnson and the war. "Peace now," they chanted intermittently.

"With all the power at my command I am going to do my duty as I see it, regardless of the pressures and strains that come normally in any political year," Johnson said.

He said he and President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam agreed that a cease fire, with effective controls and guarantees, could be part of a war settlement. They agreed also, Johnson said, "that an honorable and secure peace will assure the right of the South Vietnamese people to decide their own affairs without external interference."

"That is the position of the U.S. government," Johnson said. "It is fair, it is just, it is reasonable and it is firm. We hope and pray for the best and are prepared for whatever comes."

Gov. Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey, who had talked of a possible conference resolution supporting the current Vietnam peace talks in Paris, called Johnson's speech magnificent.

But Hughes said he was not going to seek any conference action on the war issue. He said to do any good it would have to be supported unanimously or overwhelmingly, and that is not possible.

"It seems to be the consensus of everyone that I've talked to that a resolution wouldn't do any good and indeed one might be harmful," Hughes said.

Gov. Spiro T. Agnew of Maryland, a Republican, said no Vietnam policy measure had come before his executive committee, before his executive conference resolutions.

Johnson got a silver plaque from the governors, inscribed with words of "appreciation for his long and devoted public service" and his leadership in establishing ties between Washington and the states.

He urged the governors to work at the state level to deal with problems of jobs, slums, education, health and the like—saying that the federal government has in the past taken responsibility by default, because no one else would act.

In that context, he mentioned the problem of crime. "The federal government does not seek the responsibility of policing our streets—and I hope and pray it will never accept it," he said. "But if the American people look to Washington in a matter so clearly defined as this, it may betray a weakness in our partnership."

Johnson asked for the governors' help in getting congressional action on legislation to "protect our people from guns in criminal hands."

A resolution now before it would recommend state action to stiffen gun control laws, but would not advocate specific laws, leaving that to the individual state.

Big Labor Unions Form an Alliance

CHICAGO (AP) — The nation's two largest labor unions have announced formation of an alliance to tackle tough social problems and free the labor movement from "old attitudes and habits."

Officials of the United Auto Workers and the Teamsters stressed Tuesday that formation of the Alliance for Labor Action does not constitute a merger of the two organizations.

The announcement was made jointly at a news conference by Walter P. Reuther, president of the 1.6-million-member UAW, and Frank Fitzsimmons, general vice president of the 1.8 million Teamsters whose president, James R. Hoffa, is serving a federal prison term.

"In this time of crisis, dynamism and responsible labor organizations must contribute leadership and provide teamwork toward the continual advance ... of working people and must work together ... to find answers to the urgent problems of the whole of our society," a statement released at a news conference said.

Neither union is a member of the AFL-CIO. The Teamsters were dismissed from the AFL-CIO in 1957 and the UAW disaffiliated July 1.

The union spokesmen termed formation of the ALA "the most important labor development in recent years. The two unions will begin to organize unorganized workers, especially agriculture workers, and will push into social areas in which the UAW pioneered."

"The labor movement is at a crossroad," the statement said ... it must free itself of old attitudes and habits and demonstrate the willingness, the capability and the commitment to make fundamental changes in its policies that respond to the realities of a swiftly changing world."

Other organizations are invited to join the ALA, Reuther and Fitzsimmons said. A national conference of organization members will be convened early in 1969.

The step into the fields of social action and civil rights is a new one for the Teamsters who have been conservatives in the labor movement.

Reuther and Fitzsimmons said the ALA priorities include strengthening collective bargaining procedures, building up an emergency defense fund for use in labor disputes and formation of community unions to work for the poor and dealing with the critical social problems of the day."

Reuther said the ALA would not endorse any presidential candidate in 1968.

Fitzsimmons said: "We will endorse other candidates who meet the principles and aims of the ALA without regard to party."

"The labor movement must subject itself to honest self-evaluation. It must free itself from complacency and ... must acquire a sense of renewal and rededication to social progress," the statement said.

Testimony Damages Chances

WASHINGTON (AP) — Testimony during Senate committee hearings into President Johnson's Supreme Court appointments has hurt chances that Abe Fortas will be confirmed as chief justice, according to a leading supporter of the nomination.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., says opponents of the nomination picked up much ammunition during Senate Judiciary Committee hearings into the naming of Fortas, now an associate justice, to succeed retiring Earl Warren.

Hart said that Fortas' refusal to answer questions about his decisions, his acknowledged participation in White House conferences since becoming a member of the court, and testimony attacking his rulings in obscenity cases all provide grist for the opposition.

But he, nonetheless, said he stood by his earlier prediction that the committee would recommend Senate confirmation by a 10-6 margin at worst and possibly by a vote of 12-4.

What happens in the Senate, Hart said, will depend in part on whether Republican opponents decide that fighting his appointment will be "more of a plus than a minus for their political life."

The committee, called into closed session today, seems unlikely to finish its hearings in time for the full Senate to act before September on the nominations, which includes the appointment of federal Judge Homer Thornberry to be an associate justice.

Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., said he never predicts

California Numbers Ahead of Canada's

LOS ANGELES (AP) — California's population is 20 million, larger than Canada's, and 1.5 million ahead of New York's, the Chamber of Commerce reported.

Almost half of the state's 20 million people live in the five counties surrounding Los Angeles, said the chamber's research committee. The report Monday was based on census and state agency figures.

For eight years California has averaged a gain of approximately 500,000 a year and the state's population could double by the year 2000, the report said.

Canada's population is 19.9 million.

Should Daughter Support Father?

Months ago Ann Landers' six-year-old daughter Janet announced that her mind was made up — she was going into a convent. The family decided to give her a big going away shower. We all figured since we wouldn't have to buy her a wedding present or baby gifts we'd go all out.

Two weeks ago Janet came out of the convent and decided to marry the boy she had been going with before she chose the religious life. They plan to marry in September. There are now plans for a big bridal shower. Then, of course, there will be the wedding gift, and naturally baby gifts will follow. Do you think this is fair? — MEAGER BANK ACCOUNT

Dear Meager: Do you feel Janet should stay single to save friends and relatives the price of a shower gift? I don't. Those in the family who don't wish to spend any more money on her can convey their best wishes and let it go at that.

"Good Time Had By All"

California — Moniteau County 4-H'ers returned recently from the 31st annual 4-H camp on the Lake of the Ozarks. Twenty-one campers enjoyed activities in swimming, canoeing, square dancing, volleyball, softball, badminton and pingpong.

The young people attended workshops on "Our Flag," emphasizing the pride and history in our country's banner; and, a conservation workshop on fish identification discussing the types of fish found in Missouri. A third workshop, "Electricity," instructed the 4-H'ers in proper safety around electrical wires.

The final evening of the outing was marked by a campfire stunt night with counselors, staff and campers all taking part; and, in a more sober vein, a candlelight ceremony revealing the inner meaning of 4-H. Everyone agreed the food was good, the camp was fun, and all hoped to return again soon.

New Setback For Foreign Aid Fund

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's foreign aid program, a continuing target of an economy-minded Congress, has suffered another setback.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee Tuesday refused to restore the nearly $1 billion cut by the House last week from the President's original $2.9 billion request. In fact, the committee trimmed another $22.9 million on its own.

Observers said by the time the overseas proposals get through being worked over in today's committee hearings, future debate on the Senate floor, and certain reduction in separate appropriations bills the program might barely total half of what was asked.

The foreign assistance program has been in increasing difficulties since a year ago when Congress first demanded multi-billion-dollar spending cuts in return for passage of the President's 10 per cent income tax surcharge.

Rep. George Mahon, D-Tex., chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, has predicted the money bill may be $400 million under the authorization an ultimate appropriation of less than $1.6 billion.

The authorization measure sets policy and money ceilings. The appropriations bill fixes the amount that may actually be spent.

A combination of factors has sent the aid program to its lowest level in its 21-year history.

It has its longtime critics who have termed it a giveaway that made no friends for this country.

They have been joined in recent years by former supporters who now oppose the program to register opposition to the Viet-trouble? WAITING TO HEAR

Dear Waiting: I have never recommended that a married daughter or son move an aged parent into the home when the relationship is poor. This can only lead to trouble. What I did say, however, is that a child has the moral obligation to see to it that parents do not go hungry or without shelter — and the advice stands.

Dear Ann Landers: My cousin who is always putting on airs got a fur stole for Mother's Day. She told everyone it was Siberian mink. The first time she wore it she got caught in the rain. It has smelled musty — like skunk — ever since. Can it be that her stole is actually not mink, but something a little less fancy? — SUSPICIOUS

Dear Sus: Mink is a member of the weasel family and so is the skunk, the muskrat and a few other less glamorous cousins. They all smell musty when rained on — even their Siberian relatives.

Don't Want Election Days to Coincide

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Two Kansas City residents want the State Supreme Court to bar Gov. Warren E. Hearnes from setting primary election day Aug. 6 as the date for a special election in the 8th Senatorial District.

Sen. John P. Ryan, D-Kansas City, died June 3 and on June 24 the governor set the special election for Aug. 6 to choose his successor.

Richard L. Berkley and Robert L. Simpson said Tuesday it is unreasonable to have a special election coincide with the primary when Jackson County Democrats normally turn out a much heavier primary election vote than the Republicans.

Avenue and 123rd Street to "pick up a piece of junk."

The calm of the hot summer night—the temperature was 80—was shattered when bullets began pouring from rooftops, windows, from behind bushes—and police rushed in many more men.

It ended, except for the occasional crack of a gun shot, just before a heavy thundershower about midnight cooled off the steaming streets and dampened some blazes started by fire bombs.

Police armed with rifles joined National Guardsmen on patrol today.

The shooting began, witnesses said, when two Negro snipers "carrying rifles and...sacks of ammunition," ran out of an alley, crouched behind bushes and shot three white policemen, the first victims.

Later two snipers were killed. Bayonets, shotgun shells, gas masks and first aid kits were found on the bodies.

Waves of police, some using Brink's armored trucks, turned the neighborhood into an armed camp.

Tear gas and smoke bombs burst on the sidewalks and against buildings. Officers and some residents became ill from the fumes.

The shooting scene, on Lakeview Road near 125th Street, is about a mile from the Hough area where four Negroes were killed in rioting and looting just two years ago on five other hot July nights.

When the gunfire erupted, police radio calls came thick and fast and had a tone of desperation.

Olin Plant Manager Speaks To Optimists

Charles Fredrickson, plant manager for Olin Conductor Operations, Sedalia's newest industry, was the speaker at the Optimist Club Tuesday noon at the State Fair Restaurant.

A division of the Olin Mathieson Chemical Corporation, which is nearly 100 years old, this company produces at its many plants an assortment of products which include Winchester-Western Sporting Arms and Ammunition, chemicals, pharmaceuticals, fertilizers, paper and film products, rocket propellants and metals, he stated.

The Sedalia plant will produce electric wire and cable used by Missouri Public Service and other like companies. Aluminum conductor with steel reinforced, service cable used from pole to house, underground power cables which makes lines less susceptible to storms are other products, he added, for which there is a growing need.

The metal is mined and shipped from the company mines in Louisiana. It is sent here in large chunks called sows. The smaller chunks are called pig and so since the sow is larger than the pig, the large chunks are called sows.

The metal is melted, cast and rolled into various electrical transmissions.

There will be a small sales office with 12 or 13 key people, and the plant will employ between 140 and 150 people, about 35 in supervisory positions. A plant training program will be used to hire, train and upgrade employees. Those in the supervisory jobs will be local people.

Fredrickson commented that the plant hopes to be in production Oct. 1, but the first of the equipment arrived last week and some equipment has been in operation this week.

Speaking of Sedalia he said that the company was very impressed with the community. They feel it is a fine community and there is no problem in obtaining needed employees, for they have had nearly 600 applications.

The meeting was presided over by W. A. Ball, vice-president; invocation was by Fred Biggs.

The speaker was introduced by Kenny Schilb.

Biggs gave a report on the Optimist Kid Day event held Saturday, July 20, at the George Miller Plaza.

The next meeting will be Tuesday evening, July 30, with a picnic for Optimist members and their families at the north shelter house, Liberty Park.

Schedule Meeting Of Birch Society

Sedalians Plan Trip to Italy

Ready For Europe

Shown here are three very excited ladies — and wouldn't you be if you were making a trip to Europe tomorrow? Leaving on a noon plane out of Kansas City Thursday are, left to right, Miss Lois DeMott and Mrs. Edith DeMott, both of Route 1, Sedalia; and Miss Lynne Lockett, 903 South Grand.

They will travel to San Gimignano, Italy, to attend the American Field Service Returnee Convention July 29-Aug. 12.

Miss Lois DeMott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon DeMott, Route 1, Sedalia; her mother, Mrs. Edith DeMott; and Miss Lynne Lockett, daughter of Mr. George T. Lockett, 903 South Grand, are preparing to travel to Europe to spend two weeks at an American Field Service Returnee Convention in San Gimignano, Italy.

They leave for New York from the Kansas City airport at noon Thursday and will arrive in Rome, where they will spend two days before traveling on to San Gimignano.

The convention is planned for cultural education, with recreation on the side. The group will attend current events lectures by prominent European scholars, song fests, operas, concerts, and Italian movies. There will be daily bus trips to the Mediterranean for swimming and picnicking and nightly dancing in the cathedral square.

While there, the Sedalians will stay with the whole convention group in a monastery, as the town of San Gimignano is one of the oldest Italian cities.

Following the convention, the three will travel by train to Dieren, Holland, to visit the Wullink family, with whom Miss DeMott spent the summer of 1967 as an AFS representative. They will return to Sedalia Aug. 17.

The trip will be self-financed and was made available to the three as Miss DeMott, being a former AFS representative, was able to select one associate and one parent to accompany her to the convention.

"Soul Food" And Family Keep Valerie's Balance

Soul food and family devotion have kept Valerie Dickerson, age 21, of Riverside, Calif., on the upward track. Daughter of a retired Air Force lieutenant-colonel, she is a graduate of San Jose State College with honors in journalism, and now winner of the 14th National College Queen Pageant. Furthermore, she New York Times has awarded her a scholarship of $4,000 for study at the Columbia School of Journalism.

She is graceful, poised, well-dressed, alert and beautifully spoken. She is definitely going places. She is also black. Not Negro, not colored, but black, she insists.

"Discrimination? Oh yes — lots of it during my life. Don't think that a military uniform shields a family from it," she says. "Maybe not outspoken hostility. But the unspoken kind still goes on. And at San Jose State the same thing. We organized a protest and the authorities tried to make things better for us."

She is the first Negro, the first "black girl," ever to win a major national competition for women. One college girl from each of the 50 states competed. She has lived with her military family in England, France, Hawaii and Tokyo. On the dean's list at San Jose State, she broadcast daily over the campus radio and was a feature writer for the college newspaper. Yet she admits to periods of bitterness, frustration and spiritual pain during her climb toward the top.

"The only solid things I had to hold on to were my family and my love of soul food," she admits. "My love for my mother and father and little brother—well, I never doubted them. Never."

As to soul food, Valerie says only a black person really knows what it means. "It's so much a part of our culture — we grew up on it — sweet potato pie, little pieces of fried chicken, chicken and dumplings, collard greens with ham hock — all highly seasoned food — it's really spiritual food for us — all tied in with our lives and struggles and hours of happiness," she explains.

Her mother and grandmother taught her how to make sweet potato pie and how to bake bread when she was only 10. "At college I lived in an apartment with other girls. I baked bread once a week. They loved it and that was all the cooking I had to do. They did the rest."

Valerie served as congressional intern in the Washington office of Rep. J. V. Tunney of California. She also lived for a month in Bedford Stuyvesant ghetto of Brooklyn, N.Y., to learn first-hand the problems of her underprivileged sisters and brothers.

"But their problems are so vast, so terrifying," reports this 21-year-old National College Queen who is also deeply involved in all Negro efforts to escape the ghetto. "Soul food and family love, they all need lots of that. But they need so much more," she pleads to all Americans. (NEA)

Double Ring Ceremony Unites Lois Meng to Alan Vaughan

Miss Lois Lynn Meng, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Meng, McGirk, and Alan Lloyd Vaughan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Vaughan, Russellville, were united in marriage the afternoon of July 13 at Flag Spring Baptist Church, southwest of California. The Rev. George Fletcher and the Rev. Al White performed the double ring ceremony before a background of red roses and candelabra at 2 p.m.

Traditional wedding music was provided by Mrs. Al White, who accompanied the Rev. Farrie Cole as he sang "Oh Promise Me" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a gown of white silk organza featuring lace bodice and sleeves. Appliques of lace scattered with tiny seed pearls highlighted her skirt and chapel train, which was attached at the shoulders. Her silk organza veil was secured by daisy trimmed white flowers and seed pearls. She carried a lace-covered white Bible with showers of satin ribbon and lilies of the valley and a red rose corsage decking the center.

Miss Debbie Liebi, Raytown, junior bridesmaid, wore a floor length gown of white lace over satin. A brush veil secured her lace bow and she carried a single long-stemmed red rose.

Mrs. Everett Brown, Holts Summit, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Mary Vaughan, sister of the groom and Miss Sharon Derks, Jefferson City. The attendants wore identical street length dresses of pink lace over satin. Their short veils were held in place by pink lace bows. Each carried one long stemmed red rose.

The flower girl, Miss Anita Fay Brown, Holts Summit, niece of the bride, was dressed in a pink and lavender striped gown accented by embroidered rosebuds and featuring wide pink satin bow tied at the waist front. Candelighters Miss Rita Lynn Brown, Holts Summit, niece of the bride, and Miss Sherry Rose Vaughan, sister of the groom, were dressed like the flower girl.

PIN-WORMS A FAMILY AFFAIR

Fidgeting, nose-picking, a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms... ugly parasites that medical experts say infect 1 out of every 3 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it. To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do... and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then — Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly, easily. Mrs. Louis John Bestgen

Linda Ziehmer Is Summer Bride Of Louis Bestgen at California

The Annunciation Catholic Church, California, was the scene of the June 29 wedding uniting Miss Linda Carol Ziehmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ziehmer, California, to Mr. Louis John Bestgen, son of Mrs. Alma Bestgen and the late Peter Bestgen, California.

The Rev. Jerome F. Bestgen, brother of the groom, performed the 2 p.m. ceremony before an altar decorated with pom poms, greenery and baskets of gladioli and chrysanthemums.

Mr. Keith Dahler provided traditional wedding selections and accompanied Mr. Lloyd Baker as he sang.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, chose a gown of imported silk organza and Chantilly lace over bouquet taffeta. The smooth all lace fitted bodice featured a scalloped edged Sabrina neckline embroidered with tiny sequins, slender long sleeves tapered to a point over the wrist. A lace-edged panel highlighted the bouffant A-line skirt with lace rows flowing from the waist, down the sides and meeting at the back. A triple bow of silk organza with two long wide streamers centered the shoulders at back while jeweled lace and silk organza were fashioned to form a magnificent chapel length train fastening at the shoulder.

A crescent-shaped Parisian styled headpiece of lace medallions embroidered with tiny pearls and tipped with crystal beads secured her full bouffant veil of silk illusion. She carried a bouquet of stephanotis and greenery surrounding an orchid.

Mrs. Carl Ernst, Jefferson City, was matron of honor and Mrs. Don George, sister of the groom was bridesmaid. They wore identical slim empire styled gowns of silk chiffon over taffeta in a shade of joy aqua. Their all lace bodice featured a wide modified bateau neckline and short sleeves. Narrow satin bands encircled the high waist and a gathered silk chiffon sleeveless coat attached at the shoulders with flat satin bows. Matching headpieces were Dior styled bows secured by short bouffant veils of nylon maline.

Misses Mary Reynolds, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Reynolds and Judith Scheidt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Scheidt, both nieces of the groom, were flower girls. Their dresses matched those worn by the other attendants.

The groom chose his brother, Robert E. Bestgen, Kansas City, as best man. The groomsmen were Don George and seating the guests were Edward Bestgen, brother of the groom, Anthony Scheidt, and J. R. Reynolds.

Master William George, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don George, nephew of the groom carried the bride's ring and Master Danny Wallenmeyer, son of Rev. and Mrs. Lee Wallenmeyer, carried the groom's ring.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Ziehmer selected an aqua blue silk shantung dress with white accessories. Mrs. Bestgen chose a dress of aqua blue knit with white accessories. Each mother wore a large white mum corsage at her shoulder.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the school dining hall. Mrs. Kenneth F. Howard presided at the guest book with Mrs. J. R. Reynolds and Miss Bessie Wallenmeyer in charge of the gift table. Mrs. Tony Scheidt served the cake while Miss Rita Scheidt and Miss Mary Lou Scheidt poured. Assisting generally were Mrs. Edward Bestgen, Miss Orlean Eckoff, Mrs. Lee Wallenmeyer, Mrs. Jack Ziehmer, Miss Cecil Cain, Miss Becky Bestgen and Miss Mary Bestgen.

POWDER LINE

By Judy Nix

Often it is a source of real anxiety to me that I was born neither rich nor beautiful. The wonderful world of Germaine Monteil has done some to relieve the latter unfortunate situation but my heart cries out that, as yet, Howard Hughes and I have so little in common. Careful thought and constant deviations are however bringing me closer to his wonderful world of wealth.

Who was that wise fellow who said, "All that glitters is not gold?" "Things are not always what they seem..." or something like that. At any rate, I have discovered that what this ancient sage was trying to get across has been grossly misinterpreted through the years. What he really meant to say is that it is not nearly so important to be rich as to SEEM rich.

For example, they say you can always tell a rich girl. "She's the one with the real silk underwear." I have credited one of my accounts with 1½ doz. pair of frothy pastel panties.

Example No. 2. The wealthy are said to be notoriously careless about money. They seldom pick up a lunch check, never have cab fare, and always forget the five dollars they borrowed. I seldom take anyone out to lunch, never ride a cab, and always forget my debts.

Noticeably, the opulent cling to the compact, foreign-made car. I have invested in a classy red Volkswagen.

The Internal Revenue Service has always shown great interest in the tax reports of the prominent. Uncle Sam has investigated my return twice in the last five years.

Obviously these analogies

The bride's address was a cluster of pearl rimmed lace petals and veiled sprays, securing her shoulder veil of imported silk. She carried a bouquet of white roses with dark green streaming ribbons.

A gown of apricot linen was worn by the maid of honor, Miss Patti Kelly, St. Louis. Miss Sue Bentley and Miss Susan Arue, St. Louis were the bridesmaids. Elegant Fashion Collection

PARIS AP—Pierre Balmain showed a tailored flare in skirts today and eliminated the blouse in tailored suits as he unveiled an elegant fall and winter collection.

The flared skirts appeared in afternoon and cocktail numbers to present a new silhouette. Cut on the bias, the fullness just out at each side in a sharply pressed pleat. It is as good in his chevron-woven mattress ticking multicolored tweeds, as in the new faille and silk weaves in every color.

The tailored suit is usually a jacket over a dress of which the built-in top, whether waist length or empire level, is always of a contrasting color. Balmain's technique is impervious to passing fads. He has mastered very detail, uses only the best in fabrics, in furs, in luxurious gold or silver or jeweled embroidery. This time there's a Spanish feeling about his jeweled dresses and some of his de luxe brocades recall cordoba embossed leather.

Fabrics are rich and handsome. Balmain is never at a loss when faced with opulent elements and plays them down, by classic styling attuned to the royal courts or high society. This season he has new crepes and satins. They are used in color contrast to advantage.

Even Bizarre Luxury Available on Credit

By JACK LEFFLER
AP Business Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Want to hunt polar bear in Alaska, entertain your mother-in-law at a Paris restaurant, rent a houseboat for a Mississippi cruise, hire a big-name orchestra for your daughter's wedding reception—and charge it?
All you need is a credit card. These are some of the more bizarre ways you can use a credit card but their purchasing power covers the whole gamut of goods and services.
It is estimated that Americans are carrying 200 million credit cards and using them to spend around $50 billion a year.
As a result of the proliferation of credit cards, there has been widespread speculation about the possibilities of a checkless, cashless society in the future.
Some bankers envision a nationwide system in which a single identification card would be used in place of all checks and almost all cash.
But American Express, a big name in the credit card industry, says, "The single-card system couldn't be further from reality today. The most striking feature of our present system of transferring money is the multiplicity of credit cards."
Credit cards as we know them today were pioneered in 1950 by Diners Club, which was created with 200 members, an initial investment of $18,000 and a handful of restaurants in the New York City area. Within a year it had grown to 10,000 members who could charge at more than 1,000 establishments.
Credit cards now fall into three categories:
—Travel and entertainment. Operators in this field are American Express, Diners Club and Carte Blanche. These cards are held primarily by business and professional men.
—Private label. Oil companies, airlines, hotels, car rental companies and department stores offer these cards primarily to promote their services or products.
—Revolving credit cards. These cards, largely regional or local in nature, are issued mainly by banks and financial organizations and are meant primarily for use by housewives for shopping.
The credit card companies derive their revenue from accounts from establishments which accept the cards in lieu of cash and from membership fees.
Some credit card practices have come in for criticism recently, mainly because of the

Marichal Checks Cubs In Triumph for Giants

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Willie McCovey stepped off the plane in San Francisco early Tuesday evening, but as far as the Chicago Cubs are concerned his feet still haven't touched the ground.

McCovey flew to Los Angeles for an examination of his gimpy right knee, then winged back home in time to stroke four hits, including a two-out 10th inning homer that gave the Giants and Juan Marichal a 4-3 triumph over the Cubs.

Marichal checked the Cubs on five singles before nailing his 18th victory in 22 decisions when McCovey unloaded home run No. 24.

Elsewhere in the National League, the streaking Cincinnati Reds shrugged off a two-run ninth inning homer by Pittsburgh player-coach Bill Virdon and nipped the Pirates 7-6 in the 12th; first-place St. Louis walloped Philadelphia 11-5; the New York Mets edged Atlanta 2-1 and Los Angeles topped Houston 3-1.

Detroit downed Washington 6-4, Baltimore beat Cleveland 8-6, New York trimmed Boston 4-1 and Minnesota divided a doubleheader with California, winning the nightcap 3-1 after bowing 3-1 in the first game, in American League action. Oakland and Chicago were rained out after 2½ innings.

McCovey made his trip to Los Angeles to consult with Dr. Robert Kerlan regarding the knee injury that had been bothering him for more than two weeks.

Dr. Kerlan found a touch of arthritis in the knee, but the Cubs soon discovered there's nothing wrong with the towering first baseman's wrist action.

McCovey drove in one of the Giants' two first inning runs with the first of his three singles. His run-scoring single in the fifth gave Marichal a 3-1 lead, but the Cubs rallied for two runs in the seventh to knot it.

Lamabe got past Ron Hunt and Willie Mays in the 10th, but McCovey broke the deadlock with a blast into the left-center field seats.

Marichal applied an 0-for-5 collar to Glenn Beckert, snapping the Cub second baseman's season-high hitting streak at 27 games.

The Reds bunched the last four of their 20 hits in the 12th inning to break a 5-5 tie at Pittsburgh after 37-year-old Virdon, reactivated last week after a three-year absence from the majors, sent the game into overtime with his ninth-inning homer off relief ace Ted Abernathy.

Tony Perez' fifth hit, a run-scoring single, gave the Reds a 6-5 lead and Tommy Helms followed with another RBI single, offsetting a Pittsburgh run in the bottom of the 12th and insuring Cincinnati's fifth straight victory.

Home runs by Ed Kranepool and Ron Swoboda and tight relief pitching by Cal Koonce carried the Mets past the Braves, who have dropped five in a row.

Kranepool hit his second homer of the year in the second inning and Swoboda crashed his first since June 10th in the sixth before Koonce rescued winner Tom Seaver in the eighth.

Two doubles by Roger Maris drove in four of St. Louis' 10 runs in the first three innings as the Cardinals stretched Philadelphia's losing string to five with a 14-hit barrage.

Lou Brock and Mike Shannon delivered two runs apiece for the Cardinals, who lead the second place Braves by 1½ games.

Bob Bailey's leadoff homer in the sixth—the first hit off Mike Culler—and run-scoring singles by Ted Savage and pitcher Claude Osteen brought the Dodgers from behind against Houston.

Osteen scattered seven hits in bringing his season mark to 8-14.

To State Tournament

Mat Title Event Ends Up In Some Real Fisticuffs

Sonny Myers and Ronnie Etchison from St. Joseph, holder of the North American Championship wrestling belt, defended their title, Tuesday night, against The Viking of Oslo, Norway and Nature Boy Kirby of Indianapolis. The event ended in real fisticuffs during the final fall which was finally won by Myers over Kirby.

The first fall went for 11 minutes and 55 seconds before The Viking put through a series of thumb jabs and a press for the win. In the second fall period Etchison using a judo chop on Viking succeeded in putting him to the mat and pressed him for the win in two minutes and 25 seconds.

Myers and Kirby collided in the third period during which time a fistcuff occurred, first when Etchison and The Viking were in the ring, and both tagged their mates in. Myers and Kirby ended up outside the ring with Referee Richard Moody counting them out. Myers made a desperate effort in landing a "haymaker" on Kirby knocking him to the floor, then got up and rolled inside the ropes as the count caught Kirby outside. Myers was the winner, in four minutes and 40 seconds.

Bob Brown, Montreal, Canada, who had his troubles several weeks ago and returned to Sedalia Tuesday only to have city warrants read to him for disturbing the peace of a woman ringsider, won his match over Gil Hayes, Detroit, Mich., a new comer. Hayes won the first fall with a reverse back drop and press in 11 minutes and 20 seconds. Brown took the second with a series of knee drops and press in five minutes and five seconds, then the winning fall when Hayes threw Brown over the top rope which is illegal. It ended in five minutes and 20 seconds for the third period.

Kirby and Myers met in a one fall, 15-minute time limit match with Kirby the winner in 11 minutes and 35 seconds using a series of knee lifts and a press.

A special event between Kay Noble, St. Joseph and Jean Antone, New Orleans, La., ended with a Noble victory in seven minutes and 45 seconds, when she provided a series of body slams and a press. Promoter Gust Karras announced the returning of Man Mountain Mike Milke the scales at 552 pounds. Mike is seeking an opponent who will be announced this coming weekend. "I like Sedalia and Sedalia fans," Mike told Karras, "and I want a match down there this summer."

'Maybes' On Pro Grid

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Roosevelt Grier, a 287-pound veteran, is finished with pro football. Definitely. Sam McDowell, a 350-pound—maybe more—rookie, is ready to start his career. Maybe.

A Los Angeles Rams' spokesman said Tuesday the 36-year-old Grier, a defensive tackle for 11 National Football League seasons, has retired to devote his time to show business and working for "harmony and peace among races."

Grier sat out last year with a ruptured Achilles tendon. When McDowell, an offensive tackle who was the Miami Dolphins' ninth-round draft choice, signed his contract, it was stipulated that he report to camp.

McDowell reported Tuesday, stepped on the scales and the needle bounced to the maximum 350 pounds. His total weight could be only estimated.

He was held out of the American Football League's first full-scale workout, and Joe Thomas, director of player personnel, said a decision on McDowell's status would be made shortly.

In a National Football League trade Tuesday, the Dallas Cowboys acquired kicker Mike Clark from the Pittsburgh Steelers for an undisclosed draft choice. Clark is expected to fill a vacancy created last week when Danny Villanueva retired.

Defensive safety Jerry Richardson quit the Atlanta Falcons and defensive tackle Dennis Randall left the New York Jets' camp.

Officials of the NFL Falcons said Richardson quit when his demand for a three-game guarantee for the 1968 season was refused. Richardson needed to be activated for at least three more games to be eligible for a five-year NFL pension.

A spokesman for the AFL Jets said he didn't expect Randall to return. Club officials said he was unhappy and had several business opportunities.

Tackle John Johnson, a five-year NFL veteran, and rookie halfback Gary Lyle still had not reported to the Chicago Bears' camp, and Coach Jim Dooley said each would be fined $250 for every day they are absent.

And George Halas Jr. announced the Bears are willing to trade defensive back Richie Petitbon to New Orleans for the Saints' No. 1 draft pick.

LL Nationals Win, Americans Defeated

The Sedalia National Little League team defeated Harrison County's representative in the District No. 1 tourney being played in Concordia, 10-0.

Jim Sanders was the winning pitcher for Sedalia, and Greg Boehne and Sanders both hit home runs for the locals as they pounded out 13 hits.

Pettijohn was the losing pitcher for Harrison County. The Nationals will now take on the Big Six team at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

In the opening play of the tournament Monday night the Sedalia American League tournament team was eliminated by Clinton 7-5.

Detroit Takes Senators As Orioles Trim Indians

Add Detroit's Mayo Smith to the list of push-button managers. First he pushed the panic button by starting Denny McLain with only two days' rest. But just when the Tigers were in danger of losing again he hit the right one and out popped two pinch hitters who turned the game around.

When the wheels had stopped turning Detroit had a 6-4 victory over Washington Tuesday night and a six-game lead in the American League as Baltimore stopped Cleveland 8-6 and jumped back over the Indians into second place.

Elsewhere, the New York Yankees downed Boston 4-1 and California and Minnesota split a doubleheader by 3-1 scores, the Angels taking the opener and the Twins the nightcap. The Chicago White Sox led Oakland 3-0 after 2½ innings before they were rained out.

In the National League, St. Louis walloped Philadelphia 11-5, the New York Mets edged Atlanta 2-1, Cincinnati nipped Pittsburgh 7-6 in 12 innings. Los Angeles stopped Houston 3-1 and San Francisco shaded the Chicago Cubs 4-3 in 10 innings.

Detroit trailed Washington 4-3 on the strength of Frank Howard's 28th homer in the second inning and a three-run outburst in the sixth. But Phil Ortega walked Al Kaline to open the eighth, Willie Horton sacrificed him to second and Bill Freehan also walked.

Pinch hitter Jim Price singled home the tying run against Barry Moore and after Dave Baldwin got Norm Cash to foul out, Gates Brown, another pinch hitter, singled in the go-ahead run. The Tigers scored an insurance run in the ninth on Jim Northrup's double and a single by Kaline.

The late-inning fireworks provided Denny McLain with his 19th victory, although he left in the eighth for a pinch hitter. It was the third time this month a Detroit starter had worked with two days' rest—a month in which the Tigers' lead had dropped from 9½ to five games before Tuesday night's action—and the third time this season for McLain.

"We were very fortunate," Smith said. "Maybe we needed a game like this to turn us around."

The Tigers had lost eight of 12 games since the All-Star break. Boog Powell's three-run homer and Dave Johnson's two-run triple powered Baltimore past Cleveland. Powell doubled home a run in the first inning and then scored on Brooks Robinson's homer. Jose Cardenal put the Indians ahead 4-3 with a fifth-inning homer.

But Powell unloaded his 16th homer in the bottom of the inning and Johnson's triple in the eighth offset a Cleveland run in the eighth and Joe Azcue's homer in the ninth.

The Yankees utilized a bases-loaded walk to beat Boston. Juan Pizarro walked Frank Fernandez with two out in the seventh inning to force home the tie-breaking run.

Tom Tresh homered in the fifth for their first run and they added two in the eighth. Stan Bahnsen went the route for the Yanks.

George Brunet scattered six hits and won his fifth straight game as California won the opener from Minnesota. The only damage was Ted Uhlaender's seventh homer, which ended Brunet's string of scoreless innings at 24.

But the Twins scratched out three unearned runs and won the nightcap behind Jim Merritt's clutch pitching.

BABE RUTH RESULTS

VFW clung to their narrow one game lead in Senior Babe Ruth league play as a result of their 3 to 0 win over Pepsi Cola, Monday.

In the first game of the evening Jerry Morris pitched a six-inning no-run, no-hit game as Broadway Realty gave S&M 10 to 0.

The game was called in the sixth because of the 10-run lead for Broadway Realty.

Morris permitted only two base runners as Larry Newbill drew a walk in the second and Scott Schumaker reached first on an error in the fifth.

Larry Neville, subbing in the Broadway Realty lineup, had a single and a triple to lead their five-hit attack.

Morris permitted no runs on no hits while striking out eleven and walking one. Dick Crawford took the loss for S&M and his team was guilty of eight errors.

Batteries for Broadway Realty — Jerry Morris and Ed Ream. For S&M Dick Crawford, Tom Smith and Jim Steele.

Score by innings:

Broadway Realty — 240 012 1-0 5 1

S&M — 000 000 x-0 0 8

In the second game VFW combined the one-hit pitching of Alan McCurdy with the timely hitting of Pat Wood for a 3 to 0 decision over Pepsi Cola.

Larry Brownfield opened the scoring for VFW in the second as he walked, stole second and scored on a wild throw. VFW moved their margin to 3 to 0 in the fifth as Don Crank opened the inning by drawing a pass. He scored moments later as Pat Wood doubled to the center field fence. Wood moved to third on the play at the plate and later scored on a wild pitch.

VFW could muster only two hits and both of them went to Pat Wood. Terry Hudson had the only hit for Pepsi Cola, a single to right in the fifth inning.

Alan McCurdy picked up the win as he permitted no runs on one hit while striking out eleven and walking six. Pat Robinson took the loss giving up three runs on two hits. He struck out six and walked three.

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—I have a lovely, new, taffeta slip but it rustles every time I take a step. I wonder if any of the readers can tell me how to eliminate this rustle.—LAURA

DEAR POLLY—Last winter, when I got on a bus downtown to go home, I discovered my wallet was missing. The gentleman ahead of me saw my plight and paid my bus fare. Between that time and the next morning, when I could call the store where I had been, I kept thinking about how many things are in a wallet that must be replaced or might be used by others. Aside from $34 in mine, there were credit cards, driver's license, I.D. card (my husband is overseas and this would present difficulties) and other valuables and necessities. It dawned on me that one is very foolish to keep everything together in one wallet. I took the card case out of my wallet and put it in the zipper compartment in my purse, large bills were put in a money clip and then in the zipper compartment. My wallet now holds only change and small bills and I feel much safer about the situation. By the way, some honest person returned my wallet completely intact.—WANDA

DEAR WANDA—As an added precaution, you might try what one of my sons recently suggested to me and that was to copy the numbers and names of all credit cards you carry and have the list safely put away at home so time would be saved when reporting such a loss and none would be overlooked.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY—How about the following message to mothers who take children to the beauty shop: "Ladies, please remember you are in a shop of beauty/So kindly do your duty. Before the children begin to jump and hop/Make them STOP, STOP, STOP."—BESSIE

DEAR POLLY—My son in Vietnam was always writing home for stationery. He often had to borrow paper from a buddy. I solved this by enclosing some in each of the three letters I write him each week and there have been no more requests.—ETHEL

Maris Roaming Again

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Every body is trying to retire Roger Maris and the Philadelphia Phillies are having as tough a time as the sports writers trying to do it.

Maris is roaming around right field for the St. Louis Cardinals again after watching several games from the bench. And he's doing the big job at the plate again, too. He did it Tuesday night with a pair of doubles that drove in four runs in three innings as the Cardinals trounced the Phillies 11-5.

But Maris reads in the papers all about how this is his last year.

"I see it a lot and I'm aware of it," Maris admitted, "but I don't pay much attention to it. It's been all speculation so far and as long as I put on this uniform I have to do the best I can."

Among his best was a two-run double in the first inning as the Cardinals scored five runs off starter Rick Wise, 6-7. The Cards collected an unearned run in the second, then four more runs the next inning. Maris had another two-run double in the third.

The 33-year-old outfielder has a beer distributorship and a comfortable future to look forward to, and he's aware some people believe he's dogging it.

"Every dog has his day," Roger grinned.

"That's one thing I don't want to have happen," Maris said quietly. "I don't want to look bad. No one ever goes out there to look bad. You give it the best you can and sometimes it works and sometimes it doesn't."

It was working pretty good for Orlando Cepeda also. The Cardinal first baseman was pulled out for a pinch hitter the night before, the first time it's ever happened to him. And he wasn't supposed to play Tuesday night but he was in the line-up.

Cepeda had two hits and scored three runs to help winner Larry Jaster, 8-5, and Dick Hughes, who worked the last four innings.

"I didn't have to tell him (Manager Red Schoendienst) I wanted to play," Orlando said. "I was going to, but I saw my name was in the line-up."

Cepeda admittedly had a bad time of it at the plate lately. Schoendienst was going to rest him, but Orlando said he doesn't need any rest.

"I felt great tonight," Orlando said. "I was tired last week. I felt good last night (Monday) too."

But sometimes when he was at bat he felt less than great.

"I'm not waiting," Cepeda explained. "I don't feel right at the plate. I've been swinging at bad pitches. I couldn't adjust."

"I don't have any patience. I'm rushing. Usually, when I go up to the plate I challenge anybody."

Jaster was rapped for all of Philly's runs, but he wasn't about to give back the victory.

"I'll take it," the Cardinals' quiet man said. "They beat me 1-0 last time I faced them, so I'll take this one. My control wasn't good. Everything was either up or not in a good spot."

Tony Gonzales drove in two runs off Jaster and Roberto Pena drove in another pair. But when Rick Joseph hit a pinch hit homer to start the sixth that was it for Jaster. Dick Hughes held Philadelphia scoreless the rest of the way.

"I felt a little strange," Hughes laughed. "I'm usually good when I have my control. This time I was lucky to throw the ball where I wanted 50 per cent of the time."

Phillies' Manager Bob Skinner said it was just another case of his pitching not holding up. The hitting, he said, has been pretty consistent.

"I'm looking forward to a good game from Larry Jackson (9-11) tomorrow (tonight)," Skinner said. Ray Washburn (8-3) goes for the Cardinals.

Match Play In Women's Tournament

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — A field of 116 women golfers begins match play today in the 68th annual women's Western Golf Tournament. The rain-delayed qualifying round was completed Tuesday.

The tournament schedule was set back a day when rain washed out Monday's round. To make up for that a 36-hole round is set for Thursday and the finals are Saturday, also 36 holes.

Leading the qualifying Tuesday were Catherine Lacoste of Paris, Martha Wilkinson of Placentia, Calif., and Mrs. Michael Skala of Carmichael, Calif., all with 74.

Mrs. Skala was five over par when she made the turn but birdied four of the last nine holes on the 6,377-yard par 37-36-73 West Broadmoor course.

Miss Lacoste, who won the 1967 U.S. Women's Open, had three bogeys and two birdies in her 36-38-74 round and Miss Wilkinson, a former National Collegiate titleholder, went 36-38-74.

Mrs. Dorothy Porter of River-ton, N.J., the defending champion, who had 75 in Monday's washed-out round skied to an 83.

Two more town girls, Barbara McIntire and Mrs. Nancy Roth Syms, followed the leaders in the qualifying with a 76 and a 77 respectively.

Judy Jehle of Montgomery, Ala., had a 78 in a round that included four birdies and three double bogeys.

Those with 81s included Nancy Regier, Newton, Kan., 45-36, and Jean Ashley, formerly of Chantute, with 40-41. Marcella Rose, Jefferson City, Mo., shot 43-39 for 82.

Civil War Brewing

NEW YORK (AP) — Rozert Kelleher, president of the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association, says a civil war is brewing between pro promoters and the ruling associations and it may not be settled until the pros get a governing body of their own.

"I've often thought the answer was for the pros to have a sort of PGA, the way the golfers do," the Los Angeles attorney said today. "I don't know whether it could be established in the framework of the amateur associations. The pros need organization and government."

Kelleher stopped in New York en route back to the West Coast from Wimbledon, where he saw the first Open championship at that famed cradle of the game.

"Some of the pros had their dander up," the USLTA president said. "They felt the purses should be bigger. They felt they should have a bigger voice in the conduct of the tournament."

"There were even some rumblings that they might boycott some open tournaments if they didn't get their way."

"I'm convinced the British Lawn Tennis Association will never yield in its role as conductor of Wimbledon and other British tennis tournaments. The other associations—the International Lawn Tennis Federation, our own association—they will never turn the tournament direction over to anyone else."

"The amateur associations have the organizations, the stadiums, the prestige. The pros need us more than we need them. But we need each other. I see no reason why there can't be a workable solution."

In golf, the most powerful bodies are the U.S. Golf Association and the Royal and Ancient Club of St. Andrews. They are primarily amateur bodies but both run the major open tournaments. They make the rules. The Professional Golfers Association is the parent organization of the club and touring pros.

In tennis, the pro groups have rival organizations. There is no central body that governs them all. The pro tennis players have yet to gain the stature or influence of the golfing pros, who play for more than $5 million a year.

Owner of Bullets

BALTIMORE (AP) — Abe Pollin, who bought out his partners rather than quit an unsuccessful venture with a profit, is the sole owner of the Baltimore Bullets.

The National Basketball Association team called a news conference Tuesday to report Pollin had bought out Arnie Heft and Earl Foreman, confirming an Associated Press report of July 15.

Pollin, a 44-year-old builder from Bethesda, Md., said Heft and Foreman "made a handsome profit in excess of what they paid originally, and what franchises are going for."

No figures were divulged, but it was estimated Pollin had to pay upwards of $1.5 million for the two-thirds share of his partners. It was estimated they paid $1.5 million for the franchise in November, 1964.

It had been reported that Foreman also was interested in buying the club, and Pollin confirmed he "could have gotten out and made a profit, but I couldn't live with myself."

"I couldn't see myself getting out of something that wasn't a success. I made up my mind I couldn't run out. So I decided to buy them out."

The Bullets have had a hard time on the playing field and at the box office since rejoining the NBA in 1963.

Scout for Royals

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Gary Blaylock was named Tuesday to replace Don Gutteridge as a scout with the Kansas City Royals baseball team.

Cedric Tallis, executive vice president of the new American League team, said Blaylock will cover the Midwest for the remainder of this year.

Blaylock is a native of Clarkton, Mo., and now lives in Malden, Mo. He pitched briefly with the St. Louis Cardinals and New York Yankees before becoming a manager in the Yankee minor league system. He recently resigned as manager of the Syracuse club in the International League.

He replaces Gutteridge, who left the Royals last week.

Lopez Resting Easy

CHICAGO (AP) — Manager Al Lopez of the Chicago White Sox was resting comfortably today following an emergency appendectomy Tuesday night.

Lopez, who will be 60 next month, complained of stomach pains Tuesday and was taken to Mercy Hospital as a precautionary measure shortly before the Oakland-Chicago game was rained out.

A couple of hours later it was announced he was undergoing surgery.

Lopez, who returned as the Sox manager July 14, two days after Eddie Stanky resigned, will be out of action for at least two weeks.

Nat Manager Lemon:

A Case of the Melting Bats

By IRA BERKOW
NEA Sports Writer

NEW YORK (NEA)—Even the sun seemed about to drip. Any moment, you'd expect a camel to cross the infield. The Washington Senators, languishing around the batting cage, appeared barely able to lift their bats—which, the way things have been going, was not unusual. Most of the players had towels and soaked sweat as if in a Turkish bath. One observer suggested they try swinging towels at the plate, or at least throw them in when the umpire shouts: "Play Ball."

In the stands, the sun intimidated popsicles and the popsicles ran. In the Senators' dugout, the sprawling, ruggedly ruddy figure of James Robert Lemon, freshman big-league manager, watched his team work out. For him, the day was not unusual. The entire season has been oppressive.

A reporter mentioned to Lemon that, since the Senators were in last place, have been for a goodly time, and were several light years away from the ninth-place club . . .

"I know, I know the record," Lemon interjected, "do you have to repeat it?"

Lemon removed his cap, veiled his face in a towel, then tossed the now wet cloth aside. Instead of spikes on his shoes, Lemon wears rubber soles. As they say in his trade, the legs go first.

A sixth-place club was inherited from Gil Hodges, who defected to the New York Mets. Lofty hopes had pervaded Washington but they disintegrated into mere chimeras. What happened?

"Everything," said Lemon. "It started with opening day, which didn't get played until two days later. The riots had broken out. The players and their families were unsettled."

"Then there were all the things that happen when you aren't winning. Key players, like catcher Paul Casanova, get hurt. We get runners on, and they don't come off until three outs are made."

"I didn't come here with any preconceived notions. I had to find out for myself

Jim Lemon

Sour taste of defeat

what the personnel was like, then fit the style of play to it."

Style is hardly the word. "Take a running game," said Lemon. "When your people can't run, you can't steal. And when your starting pitchers give up four and five runs in the first three innings, you can't play for one run. And what do you do when the outfielders break in for balls over their heads, break out for bloopers and break left for balls to their right?"

"When a pitcher forgets to cover first on a bunt—like two did in both games of a recent doubleheader—he comes in and says, 'I know, I know what I should've done.' What can you do?"

All right, the pitchers aren't pitching, the fielders aren't fielding, the runners aren't running. That's baseball, as the flannelled philosophers declaim. But what about hitting?

"In the first 30 games," said Lemon, "five starters had only five runs driven in between them—Epstein, Casanova, Peterson and Valentine." Even a sports writer could figure out that was only four players. "Throw in Coggins, then. He's gotta be in there, too."

And now, some 60 games later? "We're doing a little better at the plate. At least we're starting to make contact with the ball." As in hide-and-seek, the players are beginning to get warm.

What about the future? "It's bright," said Lemon, slipping into his public relations disguise. "Epstein'll get better. Frank Howard has a few more good years left. If Casanova gets untracked he'll be one of the best catchers around. Coleman's gonna be a helluva pitcher. Brinkman's a fine glove man, a valuable man if a team can hit."

"I'll tell you one thing, though. No one has dogged it. All the players have given 100 per cent."

If they gave anything less, the Senators would finish below Caborca of the Mexican Rookie League.

Increased Tourism Boost To Entertainment Field

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HONOLULU (AP) — With the tourist invasion continuing to grow as the jets touch on these shores, entertainment is booming.

Probably nowhere else in the United States—except Las Vegas, where the gambling creates artificial salaries—could a performer get a half-million-dollars per year contract. That's the reported salary for Hawaii's biggest draw, Don Ho, who plays to packed houses at Duke Kahanamoku's thrice nightly.

Of course, Ho is the only performer who draws that kind of money—hula dancers earn as little as $5 a night at outer island hotels. But as the demand for entertainment rises, so do salaries.

The American Guild of Variety Artists, which represents night club entertainers, has taken note of the situation. The union has threatened a strike unless hotel owners come forward with hefty raises for its members. Some demands are double current salaries, according to hotel sources.

An AGVA negotiator declined to discuss specifics.

American War Dads Hold Annual Picnic

Pettis County Chapter No. 31 of the American War Dads and Auxiliary held their annual picnic July 7 at Liberty Park.

Guests included Mr. Sylvan Woolery, speaker; Mrs. Lillie Tracy, national vice-president; Mrs. Cornelia Kilgore, state hospital chairman; Mrs. Goldie Petti John, president of chapter No. 127; and Mrs. Pauline DeHoney, chapter, No. 127 Raytown. E. M. Harley, state secretary of the organization, and Mrs. Harley, Springfield.

The Missouri State Association of American War Dads and Auxiliary Convention will be held Aug. 23 thru 25 at the Governor Hotel, Jefferson City. The national convention will be held in Atlantic City, N.J. in Oct.

Scientists use the word "ratites" to designate flightless birds. It comes from the Latin word for "raft."

AGVA's ability to organize a strike is complicated by the moonlighting tradition among Hawaiian entertainers.

"Nearly every singer, dancer and musician in the shows has a day job, too," explained a performer, who also works for an electronics firm. "It would be hard to achieve any solidarity to call a strike."

But the AGVA officials remain militant, seeking minimum wages that would make moonlighting less necessary.

One thing is certain: Gone are the days when hotel entertainment was provided by members of the staff—bus boys, chambermaids, beach boys, etc. The growing waves of tourists—1,200,000 expected this year, 1,350,000 in 1969—are seeking more sophisticated entertainment.

Producing the Royal Hawaiian show was Jack Cione, a veteran of 10 years of Honolulu niteries.

"I've owned nine of them, and all have been successful," he remarked. "Now I have sold or transferred management of all of them. You used to be able to draw the tourist trade with strippers, but the topless girls ran them out of business. I've tried the topless policy, and that did well until the customers got accustomed to looking at bare bosoms.

"Now some of the clubs are getting by on a rock policy, with music so loud that you can't carry on a conversation. That will pass, too. I think the only future for night club entertainment in Hawaii is with the hotels. They control the guided tours, and can get customers by the busload."

Steel Production Decreases Slightly

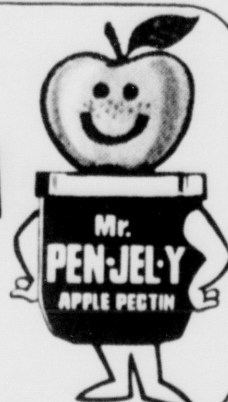

NEW YORK (AP) — Domestic steel production for the week ended July 20 decreased 1.7 percent from the previous week, the American Iron and Steel Institute said.

Production dipped to 2,621 million tons from 2,667 million tons in the week ended July 13.

For the year to date, production is estimated at 81,141 million tons, up from 68,663 million at the same time last year.

Production last week by districts (101 equals 1957-59) included:

Panthers on the March

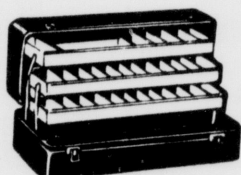

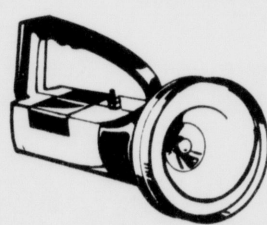

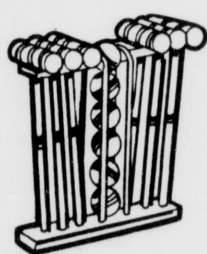

Banner-carrying members of the militant Black Panther Party march along 42nd Street enroute to a scheduled news conference at United Nations Plaza. The conference was called to protest the murder trial of Black Panther "defense minister" Huey

By JIM CROSSLEY

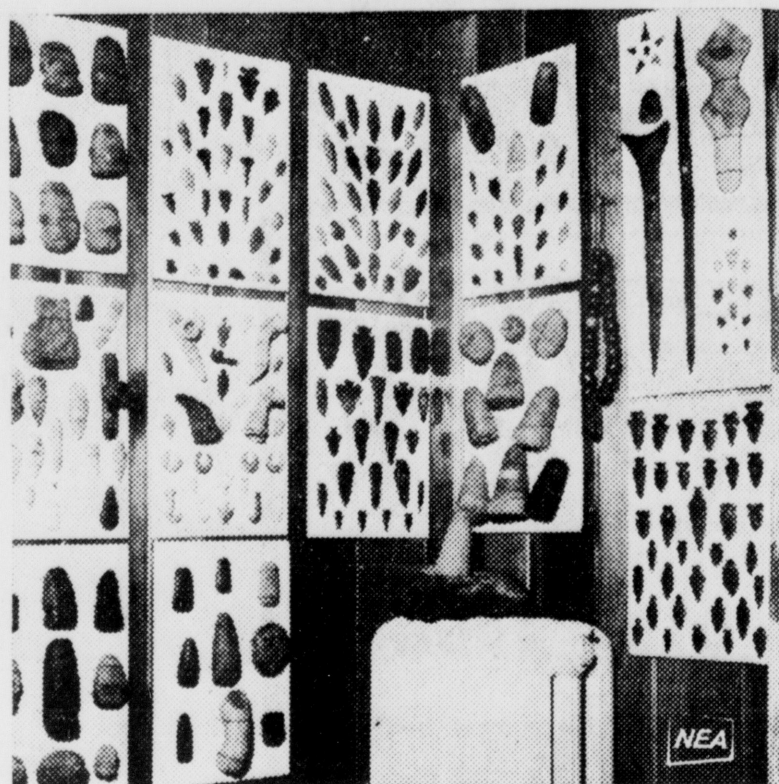

Stone Age man is still with us here in America. A lot of people are good and mad at him, too. His shadowy activities are creating confusion in an otherwise orderly and satisfying field of collecting.

Using machinery, today's Stone Age cheaters are turning out arrowheads, spears, tomahawks, and other Indian "relics." Fake! It's almost as bad as oil paintings. A collector needs an expert at his side whenever he adds anything. Some of the most beautiful and elaborate pieces are under suspicion.

Collecting mementos of the vanished inhabitants of our land has general appeal. There are few desks in small towns and rural homes that wouldn't yield an arrowhead or two. At the top level are many serious collectors with private museums who avidly seek out specimens to enhance their displays.

About a dozen dealers advertise in each issue of Hobbies Magazine and Charles Miles' fascinating "Indian Relics" column is a regular feature. A few other magazines carry ads and articles.

Finding and saving the durable objects that lead back to the obscure past of man in America is a preoccupation best suited to the imaginative. What was the scene when this arrowhead I hold in my hand was chipped out by a fellow human? In what dramatic incidents did this war club participate? How does it happen that this perfect flint knife (or awl or drill or chisel or pestle or pipe)—no doubt treasured by the owner even more than we treasure our own possessions—was lost or discarded?

The imagination whirls. Because the objects were of stone, practically the total handicraft of all those generations of ancient Americans still exists. No doubt only a small portion has been discovered. The rest lies in the ground waiting to be found.

We really know so little about the aborigines—going back at least 25,000 years—who fashioned them. What, for instance, was the use of the carefully made stone balls of various sizes up to 15 pounds which have been found? Even the most knowledgeable fall back on "native games" or "ceremonial pieces" when they must guess the use of many of the found objects.

There is a lively, if small, market in artifacts. A special find could bring several hundred dollars from a serious collector. In general, though, the hobby is more for fun than financial return. Going rate on arrow points from trustworthy dealers runs from 20 for $3, damaged, to $1 apiece for fine quality.

There are a few pointers for anyone who would like to be initiated into the collector tribe:

Most libraries have books on the lore. One written for beginners is "Indian Artifacts" by Vigil Y. Russell.

Safest and most satisfying way to collect is to find your own items. There isn't a state where they don't lie in the soil. It just takes looking.

Record the circumstances of each find as its pedigree for the future.

Digging is out of bounds. There are laws against it in some states.

Find ways to display the collection. Mounting in picture frames is one.

It isn't fakery to restore broken pieces providing this goes into the pedigree.

Organizations, with their sponsored exhibitions and swap sessions, add companionship to the arrowhead-collecting hobby.

Easy Life For LBJ At Ranch

AUSTIN, Tex., (AP) — President Johnson is immersed these days in the pleasant life of a Texas rancher and the inevitable paper work and routine of the White House—but maybe not for long.

The LBJ Ranch, on the Pedernales River, in the hills 65 miles west of here, was a sort of rest stop on the way to and from last weekend's summit session in Hawaii with President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam.

So Johnson is expected to head back soon for Washington and the somewhat more rigorous demands of the national capital.

He has in his pocket an invitation to take a bit longer route than usual, by way of Cincinnati and the National Governors Conference. The governors want to hear a Johnson speech and give the President a silver plaque "in appreciation for his long and devoted public service and especially for his leadership in creating a more effective working partnership between the states and the federal government."

The invitation is for tonight. The conference chairman, Gov. John A. Volpe of Massachusetts, said he expected Johnson then. But as he frequently does, the President held off saying "yes" or "no."

And the governors still will be in session Wednesday. In a partial desk-clearing operation Monday, Johnson cut the strings on $350 million of special federal assistance funds for mortgages on housing for low and moderate income families.

He also signed a bill authorizing an appropriation of $1.8 billion for military construction, said he is nominating Miss Barbara M. Watson of New York to move up from acting administrator to administrator of the State Department bureau that handles passports and visas, and approved promotions of a dozen diplomats to the rank of career ministers.

Delicious and simple sauce for fish: melted butter mixed with a little lemon juice and lots of capers.

Telephone Call Suit Awarded to Couple

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Claiming a neighbor didn't relinquish the party line when he tried to make an emergency phone call, a suburban Granada Hills man and wife have been awarded $1,500 in a Superior Court suit.

Robert F. Steffan and his wife said they attempted to call the fire department on Aug. 6, 1965, but that someone in the household of John G. Crawford, a mail carrier, didn't get off the line.

The Steffans filed a $37,200 suit but agreed Monday to a settlement. Steffan said the fire caused extensive damage to his garage.

Hippies' Hypocrisy...

If nothing else, the hippie movement has underscored one important fact of life—there ain't no such thing as Utopia, man.

Observers say the movement is on the way out. The reason? Disillusionment.

Researchers who spent a summer studying the inhabitants of the hippie mecca, San Francisco's Haight-Ashbury district, say more and more of the Great Unwashed are finding the love bit somewhat of a drag and are becoming increasingly militant.

What is happening, they say, is that the hippies are discovering that peace and love don't come easily. Hypocrisy is clouding the scene.

Although hippies pretend to be nonconformists, they adhere to a strict mode of dress, morals and speech.

They sponge off the very society they hold in contempt, even to the point of extorting food and money from merchants in areas where members give them strength.

They say love is their "thing," yet they completely overlook the sacrificial side of love.

Dr. Robert E. Fitch, teacher of Christian ethics at the Pacific School of Religion, Berkeley, Calif., has studied the movement and sees hippies as "peculiarly American" who would find dropping out a much more difficult and painful proposition in other parts. In the Near East, which he knows from travels, they would likely starve to death in an Arab country and end up in a labor force in Israel.

It is the very society the hippie reviles that gives him the greatest freedom to go his way while still holding the door open to becoming a useful citizen.

Society may not agree with him, but it allows him to keep his beard and beads, to say what he thinks about war and peace and to practice his free love, yet is prepared to accept him back into the fold should he decide to drop back in.

He may not be willing to admit it, but the hippie is getting a good deal from society. He can explore the world as he'd like it to be, but can revert to it like it is.

With the August primary election approaching and candidates beating the bush for voter support, the following tidbit is apropos:

"Madam, may I ask," said the candidate, "whom you intend to support in the present campaign?"

"The same man I've always supported," she replied, "my husband!"

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Senator's Movies Cost Taxpayers

By DREW PEARSON AND JACK ANDERSON
WASHINGTON — The Senate's most indefatigable sightseer, 77-year-old Sen. Allen Ellender, D-La., has worked out a unique scheme for letting the taxpayers pay for his amateur movies.

Ellender takes a movie camera around the world and takes dozens of reels for the wonderment of those at home who, out of respect for his Senate seniority, let themselves be collared into attending his illustrated lectures. He also packs a supply of little black notebooks, in which he jots his most trivial impressions, later to be published at the taxpayers' expense as official Senate reports.

It had always been thought that Ellender's movie-making was a personal hobby paid out of his own pocket. But the secret has now leaked out that the taxpayers also help foot the bill for "Ellender's Productions."

As Senate agriculture chairman, Ellender has enormous influence over the destiny of the Agriculture Department. It may not be altogether surprising, therefore, that one of the Agriculture Department's unmentioned services for the nation's farmers is to process Ellender's movies.

The Agriculture Department splices Ellender's fascinating footage, and adds a sound track featuring the voice of none other than Allen Ellender narrating his own traveltogue. For three films this has now cost the taxpayers $20,687.

The Agriculture Department is prohibited from doing work for individuals, so Ellender arranged for the department to bill the Senate recording studio. This is a technicality which saves the taxpayers exactly nothing.

Ellender's first effort to make a travelogue out of his home movies, back in 1963, cost the taxpayers $7,840. The taxpayers paid $22,000 last year for a lengthier Ellender production. And he has just completed a short documentary of his latest trip for $1,847. He expropriated the Senate caucus room the other day for a preview, which was attended by dutiful Senate employees, a few senators who couldn't think of an alibi and one or two devoted Ellender fans.

Note: The main attractions in Ellender's travelogues, according to first nighters, are scenes of native markets.

New Protection in Miami

The shooting of Sen. Robert Kennedy in a crowded hotel has caused secret security reappraisals at the Miami Beach hotels where the Republican candidates will be staying. Both the Hilton Plaza Hotel, where Richard Nixon has reservations, and the Americana Hotel, where Gov. Nelson Rockefeller will stay, have arranged elaborate security precautions. The entire floors where the candidates' rooms are located will be sealed off. Both hotels have also given their

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Over 300 persons attended the Victory Services at Epworth Methodist church, Broadway and Engineer, in celebration of the conclusion of the Victory Drive started 15 months ago for liquidation of the entire church indebtedness of $11,500. The occasion was also in commemoration of the 66th anniversary of the founding of the church in Sedalia. The Rev. Ralph Emerson Hurd has been pastor for 23 years.

FORTY YEARS AGO

The Board of Education maintained its stand against the reopening of Eugene Field school for the 1928-29 term over protests of the school and residents of the district. The board considered savings of $4,000 and better instruction for students of Eugene Field going to other Sedalia schools.

People in the "far West" are beginning to look to Sedalia as the best point at which they can make their purchases, and the "Queen City" is fast taking rank as a wholesale point of no mean importance. The Paris Talks Continue

Getting into the Act

Many Usurp 'Intellectual' Label

By BRUCE BLOSSAT, NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — In the unrest that has marked United States history since 1965 and our heavy entry into Vietnam, this country has heard so much about its intellectuals that it must imagine them a veritable army in themselves.

On almost any aspect of the war issue or of urban strife, it always seemed possible to collect the signatures of hundreds if not thousands in the academic world for a letter to the New York Times or some sort of petition.

This year, for the first time, political reporters found politicians talking of the academic world as a political force in the geographic sense. Areas like Madison, Wis., and South Bend, Ind., were often discussed as "academic enclaves" rather than as commercial or industrial centers.

Yet there is reason to believe that the impression left by these developments is quite misleading.

Author Irving Kristol suggests that no really great enlargement of the nation's intellectual community has in fact occurred. Intellectuals, defined as those individuals with a special capacity for critical inquiry into the affairs of men, are, in his view, still a fairly rare commodity.

Where the great academic expansion has taken place, Kristol adds, is in the lower to middle echelons. The explosion in attendance at United States colleges and universities from 2.6 million to some 7 million in something more than a decade has required a vast recruitment of instructors, teaching assistants and other intermediate types.

With the help of a good many indiscriminating liberals, this new force has awarded itself the label intellectual. It has tended to lump itself with the nation's rather small fraternity of seasoned scholars.

Kristol, with evident good sense, argues that the label is not deserved. Many in this youngish army of academics are hardly more qualified as critical thinkers than the students they are teaching. In a very real way, they are to be compared most accurately with the swelling numbers of junior business managers, government workers, lawyers and other professionals whose services are needed to cope with an ever-more-populous America. It is not too harsh to say that many in the academic world are fundamentally technicians.

The point in all this is that the country may be grossly overvaluing their critical judgments. To brand them intellectuals and then multiply by their numbers is to give them enormous special weight to which they are almost certainly not entitled.

One can sympathize with them in their quest for high status since this country for too long undervalued its teachers. But the answer to that error is not to overvalue the labors of thousands who are at the low-to-intermediate stages of their profession.

Furthermore, in their search for status too many have invested their undertakings with a kind of frenzied advocacy that is quite out of character with the spirit of detached inquiry teachers are supposed to bring to their work.

Their fervor has sometimes seemed to be an acting-out of angry frustrations and has too often led them into misguided support of rebellious students when the cause was shabby and the method of revolt was outrageously undemocratic and disrespectful of human rights.

The new young academic army is a force of interest and importance, but it is something much less than an intellectual bellwether for the country.

BETTY CANARY

When Mothers Can't Win

There was an article setting forth the opinion of an expert. "Children," I read, "want rules and desire a firm hand. They are seeking honesty from parents..."

"Mother," my son said, "let's go get my bicycle from the bike shop."

"I am busy," I said firmly.

"You said that this morning."

"I was busy this morning," I said honestly. "I was writing a poem and trying to find a word to rhyme with Byzantine and all I could think of was wolverine and tontine, which, I'll admit, made the morning a total loss."

"Try Ovaltine. Now, I've helped you, so you help me. That's a rule."

"Don't bother me, dear," I said firmly. "Remember that rule? Do not interrupt mother while she is working."

"But, yesterday you made a firm offer about going to the bike shop. Remember our rule that a promise is a promise?"

I quickly scanned the next two paragraphs, hoping my expert would get on with his expertise and perhaps touch on which rule has precedence over...

"It's 2 o'clock!" Cissy interrupted. "Time to drive me to swimming class!"

"You'll have to walk because Tad interrupted first," I said. "First come, first served."

"Mrs. Gordon is on the telephone and wants to know if you'll baby-sit with Charlotte."

"Yes," I answered grimly. "You can't to the bike shop, Tad, because I promised Mrs. Gordon last week."

What else was it that article said? "Parents will eventually pay with not only broken schedules but sometimes broken hearts..." Now, that was really well-said!

"Everybody get into the car!" I decided. "I'll take you to the pool, Cissy, and then take Tad to the bike shop on the way to get little Charlotte, and then I'll get Stu at Ronnie's house and take Rick to work on the way home and perhaps I'll have time to whip up those butterscotch brownies I promised your father."

"I know what you're thinking," Cissy said, as I firmly put down my magazine. "Where there's a will there's a way."

"You're wrong," I said, with honesty. "It was 'Pay now—read later.'"

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Even Minute Symptoms Aid Doctor's Diagnosis

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Medical textbooks have diseases neatly sorted out with a description of their cause, symptoms, diagnosis and treatment. But, for your doctor, things are usually not that simple.

A patient may, for example, come in complaining of abdominal pain and the doctor has to take it from there. All pains in the abdomen are not caused by appendicitis.

A woman I once knew had migraine headaches so frequently that she quit thinking about her headaches. When asked what was her chief complaint she said it was abdominal pain and she did, indeed, have a chronic colitis complete with abdominal cramps. They were, however, just a part of her highly nervous state brought on by her migraine, which she did not mention. At the turn of the century, some well-meaning doctor would certainly have removed her appendix.

Another woman who complained of abdominal pain was found on closer questioning not to have pain at all but instead, a severe nausea with its attendant generalized abdominal discomfort. I mention these two women to illustrate how important it is to give your doctor an accurate description of your symptoms, including those you may think are unimportant.

There are a dozen or more causes for abdominal pain or discomfort but details such as when they come on in relation to meals, whether they are localized in one dime-spot or are diffused or shifting from one spot to another, whether they ever wake you up out of a sound sleep, whether they tie you up in knots, whether they are relieved after a bowel movement whether they are associated with other symptoms — are important to your doctor. The more exactly you can describe them, the more you can aid him to make a correct diagnosis.

For some types of abdominal pain it is helpful to keep a diary of the precise time of occurrence and everything you have eaten at mealtimes and between meals. Remember, your doctor is not a veterinarian accustomed to dealing only with inarticulate animals. The more help you can give him, the better care he can give you.

DON SMITH (619 North Stewart Ave.) — As taxpayers we all have trash to be hauled away. We now have a wonderful "parker" or "hopper" that is supposed to take everything, but I hear it does not do so. What will happen next?

They raised the dumping fee $1.00 for 15 minutes. They raised the garbage fee from $1.00 to $2.00. And now they want to raise the parking meter fines, although the latter has not passed yet.

What in the world are the people of Sedalia going to do. I cannot haul because the fee is too high for me and the rest of the boys.

They say they want a new city hall. We need a new jail, don't you think so? Let's talk, people!

The Perennial Candidate: What Makes Stassen Run?

By TOM TIEDE
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — When Harold Stassen campaigns for office, which is most of the time, he does what any presidential candidate is obliged to do.

He waves at the voters. "Hello," he shouts, his right arm flapping, his oval face grinning, his cheeks catching fire, his eyes darting. "It's nice to see you all."

And he waves and waves and waves.

But few voters wave back.

"Who's that?" People wonder.

"That's Stassen."

"Who?"

"Harold Stassen . . . you know."

"Oh, him."

"Yes, him!" Harold Stassen, who at age 61 is making his fourth official bid for the office of president, spending much of his own money in the effort and arranging his own crusades, deciding his own policies, scheduling his own appearances, writing his own speeches, handling his own press relations and even passing out his own literature.

Why, the wonder is, does he do it?

"Well," he continues, "why not?"

His question, which is also his campaign slogan, is honest. He is not without credentials.

He was a district attorney when Hubert Humphrey was a pharmacy student. He was governor of Minnesota when Gene McCarthy was teaching in public schools. He was a Republican keynoter when Dick Nixon was an obscure attorney. He was an architect of the United Nations when George Wallace was driving a truck.

His record, says one of his campaign pamphlets in capital letters, has given him "honesty, integrity, dignity, vision, courage, maturity, patience and persistence." Also, "world-honored leadership."

Says a friend: "His background alone deserves five million votes."

But if the candidate's rise in public life was meteoric, so was his descent. His last meaningful hurrah was during the 1952 Republican convention when he withdrew his name in support of Dwight Eisenhower. The crucial switch.

Since then he has failed in two more national bids, lost a governor's race in Pennsylvania and mayor's election in Philadelphia.

This year, with an unpaid campaign director and 15 secret service agents assigned to him, he has plugged his political availability across half the country.

The results so far have been meager. He polled only 429 votes in New Hampshire's primary and his total pledged delegate strength to date is one.

Yet he doesn't seem discouraged. He has a hairpiece, has modernized his philosophies to include current issues, broadened his appeal to young people and he plows on day after day.

"This is the time," he says, "in which it is necessary for each of the men who believe they can lead our country to speak out clearly so that the people may best make their decision of who shall be the next president."

He still speaks like that, somewhat stiffly. And he is still hardly a fireball. That is not to say he's cold, only formal. His method is to provide the public with opinions stripped of ornamentation.

On Vietnam, he's a dove and an advocate of the enclave strategy. He suggests American defense of population centers only and massive U.N. intervention.

On civil problems, he would establish racial assistance centers, ask major corporations to aid the cities and insist on impartial law and order.

On the U.N., he would admit both Vietnams, both Koreas, both Germanys and both Chinas, then organize a "real police force" to keep border order.

His ideas are well-thought out, but nobody pays much attention to them. His audiences seem more inclined to question than to listen.

IS HE REALLY SERIOUS? is the question often asked about Harold Stassen. The 61-year-old perennial presidential candidate answers that he believes in what he is doing and feels that his convictions are shared by many.

The candidate has been abusively interrogated so often he answers anything without strain:

Is he REALLY serious?

"I believe in what I'm doing."

Does he have ANY support?

"I hope for at least 100 delegates."

Can he POSSIBLY win?

"I'm optimistic."

This optimism, truthfully, is shared by few and Harold Stassen knows it. Privately he displays neither naivete nor foolish egotism.

He seems simply to be a visionary with a bit of the old warhorse in his make-up.

"Without a deadlock at the convention," he admits, "I suppose my chances are remote. But I do believe that whatever delegate votes I do get will help convince the convention that my beliefs are shared by many."

And so the governor campaigns on and on. "Hello. I'm Harold Stassen." There's always 1972.

Why Some People Never Age

By JOEY BISHOP. . . . EDITOR'S NOTE—This witty, funny fellow with his deceptively worried look believes that he has discovered a fountain of youth. Joey Bishop, having not only survived but flourished since the start last year of his ABC late evening show, now can take time off from planning his work, to write about the miracles that laughter creates.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — I have a theory and I would like to pass it along for what it is worth. Now, this is no great earth-shaking, headline-making, whee-wow-whee sort of theory, but merely a something that I personally believe:

People with a sense of humor are ageless.

It occurred to me some years back that the people I considered young were usually the ones who found humor in adversity as well as success. Comedians are an excellent example when you consider such talents as Danny Thomas, Jack Benny, George Burns, Bob Hope, Groucho Marx, Red Skelton, Jimmy Durante, Milton Berle and a list of names that could easily go on for a page or more.

We are all aware that, with the exception of George Jessel, these boys are not exactly teenagers and yet they radiate a feeling of youth rather than age.

I am sure we all know a person who slumps in a chair at the end of the day and relates a tale of superglom, disaster, and misfortune that dogged his footsteps from the moment he rolled out of bed. You also can probably think of someone else who could encounter the same experiences and have you rolling on the floor with laughter when he tells his story. The gloomy, why-does-it-always-happen-to-me guys are usually old beyond their years while the one with a sense of humor seems to be eons younger.

None of us go out of our way to seek adversity, but it is something we all have to live with from time to time. As long as this is a fact of life, it is one heckuva lot better to seek out the humor of a situation rather than compound misery by rehashing or projecting the elements of doom to even greater proportions.

As theories go, my point of view is not likely to go down in history alongside the ponderings of Newton or Gresham, but it has always been of tremendous personal help. I guess you might say that this makes the whole idea worthwhile and logical to me.

Speaking from a comedian's point of view, most of our humor—the tools of our trade—is usually built upon 100 per cent pure, undiluted adversity. I am delighted whenever a microphone goes out or a waiter drops his tray on opening night because it gives me a whole new source of material for my act. The same thing is true for the person who may be addressing the PTA, his or her lodge, giving an annual report—even facing the in-laws for the very first time.

It really does not matter if you happen to be 6 or 60, the folks with a sense of humor always seem to be getting much more out of life in addition to giving something to those around them. I do not think it matters whether you are on the giving or receiving end of humor. It works the same for either end.

Three Blasts Destroy Gas Storage Tank

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP)—A gasoline storage tank exploded "like an atom bomb" today, hurled residents of nearby homes out of their beds, and shot flames 300 feet high over the Pensacola waterfront.

Seven hours after the first of three explosions, the 200,000-gallon tank still burned furiously, blanketing the area with oily smoke. The fire threatened other tanks loaded with gasoline and kerosene.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hicks were knocked out of their beds by the first blast, which blew gasoline and sparks through the windows, starting several small fires in the house. Both suffered burns as they beat out the fires before fleeing the home.

Barrancas Avenue running past the storage field was barricaded and residents of several homes were evacuated.

British History Written in Church Stones at Fulton

FULTON, Mo. — The lights have been turned on in the 291-year-old church, St. Mary, Aldermanbury, on the Westminster College campus here for the first time in almost three decades — and one of them will be left burning each night as a constant reminder of Sir Winston Churchill, in whose memory this war-damaged London church is being restored.

Although it is not complete — another $300,000 is needed to finish the restoration — the memorial is open to visitors seven days a week.

Flood of Visitors
In June, more than 6,000 persons passed through the doors of St. Mary and its modern undercroft where a museum has been put into operation in a limited fashion. These visitors and others — more than 20,000 visited the memorial during the first six months of 1968 and that many more are expected during the remainder of the year — have joined with Churchill in calling this "an imaginative concept."

It was seven years ago that Dr. Robert L. D. Davidson, president of Westminster, suggested that a war-damaged Wren church be brought from London and rebuilt here as a memorial to the famous "Iron Curtain" speech Sir Winston delivered on the college's campus March 5, 1946. Since that time $1,300,000 has been contributed by friends of the British statesman and the college to help move the shell of the church that remained after the Nazi blitz from London to Fulton.

With the church, itself, about 90 per cent complete and the lighting system in operation, Dr. Davidson announced that the small chandelier over the circular stairway leading to the museum and library in the undercroft will remain lighted each night in memory of the world leader who helped keep the lights burning in the free world. This will also illuminate a heroic bronze bust of Sir Winston, which has been mounted in a niche in the wall of the circular stairway.

The bust is by Bryant Baker of New York City, one of America's most outstanding sculptors. It was given to the memorial by two anonymous donors.

The church, which is being restored as the focal point of the Winston Churchill Memorial and Library in the United States, at Westminster College, has not led a charmed life, but it probably has the honor of having been restored more often than any other edifice.

The Third Time
When restoration is completed — probably in 1969 — it will mark the third time St. Mary has been rebuilt after having perished by fire.

The first church St. Mary, erected in London between the 11th and 12th centuries, was a victim of the Great Fire of 1666. Rebuilding was completed in 1677 by Sir Christopher Wren and the church served its parish until the night of Sept. 8, 1915, when a fire bomb dropped by a German zeppelin scored a hit on this Wren church.

This was one of the few Zeppelin raids on London in World War I, but St. Mary was badly damaged by the fire bomb and the clear glass windows, which reflected Wren's scheme of window lighting, were shattered.

After the war, St. Mary was restored and redecorated, and celebrated its 250th anniversary in 1927, a fine memorial chapel having been erected to the memory of those from the united parishes of St. Mary and St. Alphage who fell in the great war.

However, St. Mary felt the searing flames from a German incendiary bomb again on Dec. 29, 1940. The church took a direct hit during one of the Luftwaffe's heaviest air blitzes of the war and only the bare stone walls and the 12 Corinthian columns inside remained standing.

Blow to Churches
A total of eight Wren churches were destroyed by fire that night, and the London Times said the next day:

"Waves of enemy aircraft attacked London for some hours last night, raining hundreds of incendiary bombs indiscriminately over a wide area of the capital and outskirts."

And then on the following day, the Times said:

"All eight of the city churches which were destroyed by fire or severely damaged in Sunday night's raid were the work of Sir Christopher Wren, and included examples of his finest architecture. They had many historical and beloved associations and with one exception were built on the sites of ancient churches that perished in the Great Fire. By fire they have perished again."

Soon after V-E day Churchill was defeated for re-election to Parliament and when he was invited to speak at Westminster

Restored Church

This photo of the church, showing the lights as they went on at dusk, was taken from the second floor of one of the four freshmen dormitories in the Churchill Quadrangle at Westminster

College. It was taken from the northwest, and the light in the large window in the lower center section of the belfry is the one that will remain lighted.

College, he accepted President Harry S. Truman's offer to come to Fulton with him. After his introduction by President Truman, he delivered his "Sinews of Peace" speech in which he said:

"A shadow has fallen upon the scene so lately lighted by the Allied victory. From Stettin in the Baltic to Trieste in the Adriatic, an iron curtain has descended across the continent, and behind that line lie all the capitals of the ancient states of central and eastern Europe."

Letter to College
Almost ten years later, in a letter to a Westminster College official, Sir Winston wrote:

"It was within your hospitable walls, more than nine years ago, that I had the honour of speaking about the perils and opportunities of the world as I saw them. Since then we have experienced many of the dangers about which I spoke, and even now the benefits of lasting peace and freedom from tyranny are still denied to millions of people. There have been many changes in the world in the last nine years, but although in recent months some of the clouds seem to have rolled away, we still require that constancy of mind and persistence of purpose which I described when I spoke to you.

"The years which have passed since then have also seen continued cooperation between our two great English-speaking peoples. This close and fraternal relationship which I suggested was necessary for our mutual strength and security will, I know, be continued in the future."

And then, in 1962 when Westminster's President Davidson called on Sir Winston and told the latter of his plan to bring the war-damaged Wren church to Westminster's campus as a memorial to Churchill's famous speech, the aging statesman said:

"I am honoured that Westminster College should wish to commemorate the speech I made at Fulton on March 5, 1946. The removal of a Christopher Wren church, largely destroyed by enemy action in London, and its reconstruction and re-education at Fulton, is an imaginative concept. It may symbolize in the eyes of the English-speaking peoples the ideas of Anglo-American association on which rest, now as before, so many of our hopes for peace and the future of mankind."

Arrival of Stones

Actual construction on the modern undercroft was started in the fall of 1965, and the first stones arrived here in April, 1966, after having made the journey from London by steamship and rail.

In addition to the old stones and columns that Wren used, there are 24 stone steps which lead to the belfry that are almost 900 years old. They came from the first church St. Mary, that was leveled by the Great Fire.

Also to be found in the church are two pieces of woodwork that were carved almost 300 years ago by Wren's chief wood carver, Grinlin Gibbons. These come from St. Dionysis Back church, which was partially destroyed by fire in the 1880s, and had been stored in a London warehouse until they were purchased for the Churchill Memorial because of the connection between Wren and Gibbons.

The remainder of the woodwork is new, but it and other appointments have been copied from Wren's original plans.

The interior of the church measures 75 feet in length and 49 feet in width. The ceiling is 38 feet high, and the top of the belfry, which contains five bells cast in Holland, stands 106 feet from the ground.

The modern undercroft contains 14,000 square feet of floor space. This area has been set aside for the museum, library and gallery.

The memorial will also have a practical use — it will serve Westminster as a college chapel and will also be used as an ecumenical church. During its long history in London it served for more than 400 years as a Catholic church; for 40 years as a Presbyterian church, and after it was restored by Wren, St. Mary became an Anglican church.

Predicts Tighter Gun Control Laws

WASHINGTON (AP)—A leading congressional supporter of gun control legislation predicts the House will approve President Johnson's embattled proposal to restrict the sale of rifles, shotguns and ammunition. The prediction was made by Judiciary Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., after the House spent seven hours Tuesday wading through amendments to ready a vote for today's expected final vote.

Celler's opposite number in the Senate, Judiciary Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., declared his opposition to a similar bill called up for simultaneous action in his committee. "I hope the committee will kill all the gun bills," Eastland said.

Among the amendments tacked onto the bill Tuesday was one proposed by the National Rifle Association, a prime enemy of stiffer gun laws.

Sponsored by Rep. Robert L. F. Sikes, D-Fla., it would exempt the National Board for Promotion of Rifle Practice from the prohibition of interstate shipment of firearms and ammunition.

The board, a military-civilian governing body, works closely with the NRA in the holding of rifle and pistol matches.

Sikes, a lifetime member of the NRA, said, "We can live with the bill the way it is."

Another amendment, sponsored by Rep. John D. Dingell, D-Mich., also an opponent of gun controls, would permit licensed gun collectors who deal in guns as relics and curios to buy and sell firearms across state lines.

"Under this amendment any self-styled collector could acquire firearms through the mail," argued Celler. He said this was a dangerous loophole.

The House also adopted an amendment that for all practical purposes would leave only ammunition for pistols and revolvers prohibited from sale through the mails.

The House rejected an attempt to require the states to give mandatory prison sentences to persons convicted of using a firearm in the commission of any felony. Last Friday, the body adopted an amendment requiring mandatory sentences for persons convicted of a crime while using a firearm in the commission of a federal felony.

Regardless of what form a gun control bill finally takes if and when it emerges from Congress, one thing seems certain at this point: There will be no provisions for the licensing and registration asked by Johnson after he first pressed Congress for a ban on interstate mail-order sales of rifles and shotguns and over-the-counter sales of long guns to residents of nonadjacent states.

Johnson also asked for bans on sales of ammunition and on sales of all guns to people under 18.

Riverside PASSENGER TIRE 4-WAY GUARANTEE

1. LIFETIME QUALITY GUARANTEE on the quality of material and workmanship for the life of the original tread. Adjustment prorated on tread wear based on price in effect at the time of adjustment plus Federal Excise Tax.
2. LIFETIME ROAD HAZARD GUARANTEE (except repairable punctures) for the life of the original tread. Adjustments prorated on tread wear based on price in effect at the time of adjustment plus Federal Excise Tax.
3. TREAD WEAR GUARANTEE for period specified. Adjustments based on price in effect at the time of adjustment plus Federal Excise Tax of same size and type less a specific Dollar allowance. (Tread wear allowance not applicable to tires used commercially.)
4. SATISFACTION GUARANTEED NATIONWIDE. Return tire to nearest Ward branch for adjustment.

2 fiber glass belts stabilize the tread with a tensile strength greater than steel

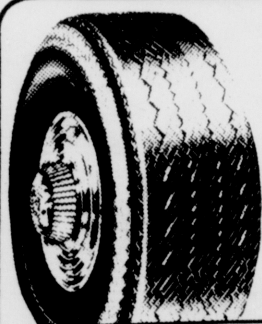

That's stable. So stable, the tread won't squirm like it does on ordinary tires. So it wears longer. Up to 40% longer than the same tire without these belts. All that strength holds the tread open. Lays it down flatter. Socks it to the road.

2 plies of tough nylon cord for high speed dependability

Cross plies, not radial, for more stability. Nothing resists impact like nylon. You can really drive on this tire.
